Dear Parents and Carers,

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you all for your support and hard work this term with home learning.

It has been a very busy and challenging time for us all, but despite this we have had an extremely productive term. The children have worked hard, and we have made a huge amount of progress with our School Improvement Plans. Blewbury School is changing rapidly, and it is an exciting time to be at the school as a learner and educator. This progress has been acknowledged by ODST and the Governors and we look forward to updating you on the successes soon.

In the last week we have seen the children engaging enthusiastically with a variety of activities which have been planned to keep the children connected with their friends and teachers, and motivated to keep persevering with their learning at home and in school. These have included some art projects, cooking, Zoom games and challenges. Another exciting initiative is the Blewbury People Series which involves a local guest speaker who delivers a talk and engages in a question-and-answer session for the children. We would like to thank Roger Murphy, one of our governors, for organising the first of our guest speakers this week, Professor Paul Whitehead, who talked to the children about his fascinating work. The children learnt a lot about Professor Whitehead's travels abroad and about the water in Blewbury! We were very impressed with the questions that the children asked Professor Whitehead. We are all looking forward to the next guest speaker!

Learning in school and at home will resume on Monday 22nd February, so we look forward to seeing you all then.

We hope that you all have a safe and restful half term break and enjoy spending time together without the pressures of home learning.

Best wishes,

Lisa Austin, Lisa Horton and Blewbury Staff Team
