Dear Parents and Carers,

What a wonderful end to the autumn term it has been. Well done to DaVinci and Goldsworthy for a beautiful nativity – the teachers will be sharing the video of it via SeeSaw today. Picasso, Klimt, Banksy and the choir have recorded a festive song each, which have been put together in one video, and will also be shared today on SeeSaw. Congratulations to the choir for a lovely open-air concert at the end of school yesterday – Jingle bells went down a treat!

The PTA have been busy supporting us with festive events. The Reindeer visit was a wonderful treat for the children; make sure you check out the photos here.

The school tea towel has now been completed as is selling fast.

They also held a gingerbread house decorating competition. I had the privilege of judging the entries, along with Father Jason, and was overwhelmed at the level of creativity and skill. Well done to all who entered. See the winning entries below.

We would like to thank the members of the PTA for their dedication to raising funds for our school.
